

BOOKING:

ALL reservations must be confirmed with Peru Anglers before booking with clients. If a booking is made without first confirming with Peru Anglers, and we are not able to accommodate that booking, any expenses incurred will be responsibility of the seller.

To confirm your reservation, we require a 30% nonrefundable down payment. By making this payment, you acknowledge that you have read, understood and accepted all terms and conditions.

Your reservation will not be considered complete until this deposit has been made.

The remaining 70% is required 14 days before the starting date of your trip. If your reservation is made less than one week before the date of your trip, payment in full is required at the time of booking.

HOLIDAY & ELECTION DAY SURCHARGES:

Peru Anglers does not operate between 20-December and 20-March because of incurrent weather conditions. Exceptions are considered only at the discretion of Peru Anglers.

If an exception is made for dates between 20-December and 3-January (dates that we consider as holidays), you will be charged a surcharge of $50 per day/per passenger

PAYMENT:

Payment is accepted through account deposit in either USD dollars or Peruvian nuevo soles (subject to the exchange rate on booking date) and credit card. 5% processing fee will be applied to credit card payments.

If an invoice is desired and/or required, please communicate this at the time of booking. A single invoice can be provided for the trip total, or separate invoices for the deposit and final payment.

CANCELLATION:

All cancellations should be communicated to info@peruangers.com as soon as possible. 30% refund will apply to cancellations made between 7 and 14 days before the trip start date. Cancellations made less than 7 days before the trip date, or if your group does not show, will not be reimbursed.

Service cancellations Peru Anglers reserves the right to cancel the program in case any of the following circumstances occur:

The customer does not pay for the service within the agreed deadlines.

- Reasons of force majeure: impossibility of operating the program due to unusual and/or unforeseen circumstances and/or beyond the control of PA.

Examples: adverse weather, strike or strike that does not allow the operation, that risks it and/or that forces it to modify or cancel it, sudden and unforeseen inaccessibility of the route (decays, others), disputes of any kind including political, closure of borders, denial of visas, loss, delay or cancellations of flights or any other type of action that prevents the operation

- In cases of force majeure, PA will propose viable solutions for the operation of the same program, if it is not possible, it will propose a program
- In case of rejecting the proposal, they would apply the cancellation policies specified in: "Cancellations by the Customer"

If you accept it, PA would not be responsible for any extra expenses arising from the alteration of the program.

- In the event that the only way to operate the same selected route implies a reduction in the duration of the original program, the customer will not be entitled to any refund for such reduction as it is considered grounds of force majeure.
